

Young Emerging Writers/The Atlas Sponsorships

What is the Young Emerging Writers Summer Internship Program?

Young Emerging Writers (YEW) is a competitive creative writing/magazine production internship held for several weeks each summer. Any student ages 15-19 living in the greater Quad City area is welcome to apply. Interested students complete an application, provide references, submit a writing and/or page design sample, and participate in a brief phone interview. Each summer, 12-15 interns are selected, and produce a high-quality literary magazine, The Atlas, which is released to the public at an event in August, where the interns read from their contributions to the magazine. The magazine is distributed to schools and libraries throughout the Quad City area.
